

Refurbishment

Whether restoring a helicopter to its former glory, with all the latest equipment, or repurposing it for a new role entirely, Bell Helicopter redefined quality helicopter refurbishing decades ago and set a high standard that the rest of the industry is still striving to duplicate—and none have surpassed.

Thanks to the exceptional skills of our team and the complete selections of replacement parts and accessories provided by Aeronautical Accessories, we bring new life and usefulness to proven helicopters.

From new instruments and interiors to necessary structural repairs, Bell Helicopter has the experience and know-how to put previously retired helicopters back into the sky.

Repair and Overhaul

As a Bell Helicopter Service Center specializing in component overhaul, and using genuine Bell parts, we are authorized to overhaul components for the Bell 205, 206B, 206L, 212, 214ST, 407, 412, 427, 429, 430 OH-58 and UH-1 model helicopters.

Our factory-trained technicians utilize the latest tooling and engineering practices.

We are dedicated to overhauling your components to the highest quality standards without compromising customer service and satisfaction.

Included among our expanded repair capabilities are drive shaft balancing and in-house NDT services, such as liquid penetrant, magnetic particle and ultrasonic inspection.

Performance Unmatched

Bell Helicopter's success is built on lifelong relationships. By understanding your needs better than any other provider can, we provide you, our client, with the quality and attention to detail you expect and deserve.

From your initial introduction to final acceptance and delivery, Bell Helicopter will provide the highest quality product and an experience you will remember for a lifetime.
